NSWC Panama City Division (PCD) Persistent Awareness Systems Development Branch Awards INDUS the Information Assurance Support Services Contract

San Diego, CA September 2015: INDUS Technology, Inc. was notified by NSWC Panama City Division, that our team had been awarded the Information Assurance (IA) Support Services contract in support of the Persistent Awareness Systems Development Branch. INDUS' winning proposal consisted of two teaming partners, Alion Science and Technology Corporation and Scitor Corporation. This award represents INDUS' first prime contract in Panama City and was a strategic win for the company. The work on this contract focuses on IA procedures and control evaluations, IA and network assessments, preparation of supporting DIACAP and PIT documentation, Risk Management Framework (RMF) transition, implementation of security postures and Subject Matter Expertise (SME) in IA life cycle management support services which are critical to NSWC Panama City Division.

"This is our most significant contract win to date at NSWC Panama City, and provides essential Information Assurance support to a very important Persistent Awareness Systems Development Branch at NSWC Panama City. We are very excited to help NSWC Panama City Division perform this critical effort," said James Lasswell, President/CEO.
